

Tuesday Evening, June 29, 1868.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

STATE SENATE,
HON. WM. A. MARTIN, of Monmouth,
ASSEMBLY,
DR. GEO. L. RICE, of McSherrystown,
W. HOWARD DICKS, of Reading twp.,
PROTHONOTARY,
GEO. L. H. GRAMMER, of Franklin,
DIRECTOR OF THE POOR,
FRANKLIN S. CROMET, of Cumberland,
COUNCILOR,
DR. J. C. FELTY, of Gettysburg.

BATTLE NUMBER.—Gen. Hofmann's account of the battle of Gettysburg, printed on our first page to-day, has peculiar interest, being specially clear and strong in regard to the operations of the first day. Other battle incidents fill the outside pages.

CONGRESS.—The Democratic Representatives held a caucus at the Capitol on Thursday evening and appointed a committee consisting of Messrs. Ryan, Holman and Morrison, to select such bills as it was desired should be passed and use such efforts as are necessary to get them through.

It was agreed that Congress should adjourn by the 15th of July, and it is now believed in Washington that the final adjournment will occur on that day.

In the House on Thursday Mr. Randall, in reply to Mr. Reed, of Maine, said that both wings of the Democratic party in the House would together, which cut Reed's Com considerably.

In the House on Tuesday Dr. Swope introduced a bill for a public building in York.

The railroad expenses of his bridal trip were paid by our Democratic President out of his own pocket. What an innovation that would have been in Republican times!

CONRAD B. DAY and George Ryster are both competent for the offices of U. S. Treasurer at Philadelphia. But Day is a Democrat, and that ought to decide his fate in his favor. Are Republicans always to have the offices, no matter which party wins elections?

QUAY has been chosen a delegate to the Republican State Convention (to meet to-morrow) and had himself instructed for Beaver, Davies and Norris—which means Quay's ticket. But Beaver county can't elect them.

BLAINE and Logan are announced as ready to make open war upon President Cleveland. Have they forgotten the fate of Shayemaker's bill?

THOROT late, Justice is to be done to Gen. Fitz John Porter. The Senate on Friday passed the House bill for his relief to 30 years to 17 days. Thus is the name and fame of a good soldier vindicated, and he will be congratulated when ever honor and fairness are respected.

HON. DAVID DAVIS died at Bloomington, Illinois, on Saturday morning. He was born in Cuyahoga county, Md., March 9, 1815, and a very lawyer settled at Bloomington in 1855. He was Circuit Judge for fourteen years, when President Lincoln appointed him an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, which he resigned in 1877, to accept an election to the United States Senate by the Democrats and anti-Lyon Republicans. In the succession of President Arthur Mr. Davis became acting Vice President. He was twice married and leaves a son and a daughter by his first wife.

A DEMOCRATIC Secretary of the Navy does not sport himself in governmental vessels, but goes from place to place by rail at his own expense. It was otherwise in Republican times.

THE bill to expel the French prince having become a law, the Count de Paris left France and landed in England on Friday. His adherents turned out in large force and gave him hearty cheers, but there was no least disturbance. He had a welcome by a brilliant company, including the Rothschilds. He will assume the title of Marquis of Hartcourt, and remain incognito whilst in England. The other princes retire to Italy and Switzerland.

CONGRESSMAN SHAW is at his home, in Westminster, recovering from an attack of malaria.

REV. WALDO TESSICKS, the well-known pastor of the Northwood Independent church of Philadelphia, was arrested and held in $2,000 bail by Magistrate Clements, charged with attempted abuse of Mrs. C. W. Coulston, who is identified with many charitable enterprises and a leader in the Philadelphia Society for Organizing Charity. Mrs. Coulston, who was a member of Mr. Tessicks' church, testified that the clergyman's attentions of late had become so annoying that finally Mr. Coulston and herself decided to withdraw from the congregation. Public sympathy in Philadelphia seems to largely go with the preacher, who denies the charge, and will show that Mrs. Coulston's conduct had become as much as to cause him to reprove her for too great familiarity.

THE Chester Advertiser accuses Mr. Davis of practicing deception.

If this country must have a penal colony—and the fitness of things begins to demand it—let it be China.

ARCHBISHOP GRISCOM of Baltimore has received from Rome the zincate or skull cap belonging to the Cardinals. The beret will be conferred to-morrow, on which occasion there will be a grand procession and ceremonies of an impressive character at the Cathedral. If the weather be fair, Baltimore will have one of its finest demonstrations.

REV. FATHER GLOD, of Westminister, Rev. Father Doherty, of Pikesville, and A. Keyser, Shriner, left Baltimore on Tuesday night, in President Garrett's special car, for St. Louis, Missouri, to escort Archbishop Kenrick and a party of clergymen to Baltimore, for the悲etta ceremonies to-morrow.

THE State Republican Convention will be held at Harrisburg to-morrow. It will be Beaver and the company Quay may choose to allow him.

COL. R. H. THOMAS declines to run for Lieutenant Governor this year.

It is reported that Miss Cleveland has accepted the offer of the editorship of Literary Life at Chicago, and will remove there.

HENRY WATKINSON declares that our cookery beats the British.

JUDOR HOLMAN says if any Democrat is to be elected in 1888 it will be Mr. Cleveland. If he continues to give the people an honest and faithful administration, winning the confidence of the people as he has, he will again be elected president.

The railers' strike at Pittsburg has ended, after continuing thirteen months.

MUCH IN LITTLE.

THE President's veto of two public buildings bills is directed to show that he will not appropriate appropriations for public buildings in towns of inferior importance and where the public needs do not justify them.

THE BLAIS education bill was gently but firmly held away in its final reading place last week. The House committee on education met and adjourned to the last day of the session, whenever that may be.

On Monday evening Secretary and Mrs. Endicott gave a dinner to the President and Mrs. Cleveland. The company included distinguished naval officers and their ladies.

One of the anarchist leaders at Milwaukee has been convicted, and will go to jail for a year.

MR. JOHN S. RHEY, who has just been nominated for the state legislature by the Democrats of Cambria county, was speaker of the House in the session of 1862.

JUIMO's heart, weighing 47 pounds, has been sent to Cornell University.

THE will of the late A. D. Diffratt, of Lancaster, who left $90,000 "to ascertain what children were created to do," has been set aside.

CHARLES S. WOLPE declares that he is not now nor never has been a candidate for Governor on the prohibition ticket—but he does not know what he would do if he should receive a minority nomination.

The men in a Dublin factory have struck because the owners would not discharge their Catholic girls. If religious differences are to be an objection, where is the labor trouble going to end?

SAM JONES and Sam received $2,000 for their recent evangelistic services in Baltimore. Other ministers received "special thanks." The receipts of the season were $4,407.35. For the record of the evangelists' $1,907.35 was paid.

J. T. BARNUM telegraphs from Bridgeport in reference to a rumor that he is dead that he is alive and as well as he ever was.

A MINISTER of the Lutheran Church in the Observer proposes a grand reunion of the Lutherans of Maryland and Pennsylvania at a near date, and suggests Pen-Mar as an available place for the gathering.

THE Second Annual Reunion of the United Brethren Churches of the Cumberland Valley will be held at Mount Alto Park on Thursday, Sept. 9.

A CYCLOME insurance company has been organized at Kenney Square, Chester county, with a capital of $200,000.

The torn flag captured by the Confederates from the old Pennsylvania Volunteers at Boydton Road, Va., October 27, 1861, has been sent to Harrisburg from the War Department and placed in the flag room at the Capitol.

REINHOLD WILHELM, a young German baker who went to Canton, Ohio, from New York recently, fell in love with Mary Neck, aged 19 years. On Monday, Wilhelm sat down on the doorstep of his landlord's residence and sued himself. He had a steady and dear wife and child at the county infirmary at Canton and another wife in New York.

THE engineers of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company report that the fourth track of the main line has been extended to Devens. Throughout the distance of 15 miles there is not a grade or crossing. Preparations are also in progress to extend the four track system further.

SAUER, L. HOLLYWOOD, of Indianapolis, Ind., Saturday completed a 24 hour bicycle race. He covered 291.0 miles. This beat all previous records.

AT GETTYSBURG.

WE last fought through the last day's battle, and were driven back to the town. But silence reigned when the dawn came forth, and God's sweet light came down.

ALL night not a musket rattled, but an ominous silence there was.

As when the leathern thunder lies in the lap of the storm.

For the day, we gathered strength for the day. They knew where ever the sun went down on Gettysburg that day.

Then came that terrible charge—

Then charge that Pickett made,

Through the iron storm and the leaden hail,

And the thundering cannonade,

Still on through the thickening smoke,

Still, still on, as they came,

With the great black guns on the hills out—

—spoke.

And their mouths were red with flame.

And thus through the deafening sound,

Still on through the noise sublime,

Unbroken, steadily to the same.

To the sound of their thunderous rhyme.

Then hard is the quiet return—

As when the sky is rent,

As when from the sky to the scattered sport

The lightning leaps from a cloud.

From the earth and let and right

Our miseries of death were sent

Till the foremost on the field went down

To Death in the regiment.

For the blare of our angry fire

The roar of our iron and steel—

Hoofbeats of the horses that went

From the hand of an angry God.

And thus they waver—pausing,

As for breath, as for life, and then

One final charge in the mouth of hell

Is made by those maddened men.

And up and out over our guns

The iron and steel roar,

And the roar of the conflict struck

Out by our cannons.

For blitzen and dizzy with smoke,

Despond and dizzy with sound,

Men fight till with butt of the musket or stroke.

Or the sabres they fall to the ground.

And then the field is the o'er.

On the field of mud and rancid gore,

"Die here for us all on our state soil

Ere the home of our guns."

Our grand is the deep refrain,

Of the great black guns that sound!

O heavy the fall of the laden rain

That beats with the dead the ground.

For thus it was same.

Through the leaves and fray,

Through the trees at the seed are sown

At Gettysburg that day.

CARLISLE, May, 1868.

THE KIND OF MAN WANTED.

Jack Williams was a brave sergeant of a regiment, which, undrilled and undisciplined, had joined the Army of the Potomac just as the terrible campaign of 1864 began. Before the army reached Petersburg, Jack commanded his company, the captain and lieutenants having been killed. His gallantry was so conspicuous that he was recommended for a captaincy in the regular army. Ordered before an examining board at Washington, Jack presented himself, dressed in a soiled, torn uniform, with bronzed face and uncut beard. The trim, dapper officers composing the board had never been under fire or roughed it in the field, but they were posted in tactics and in the theory of war. Thus they were shocked at Jack's unsophisticated appearance, they said, as though it were a mark of his ignorance, mathematics, ordnance and engineering. Not a single question could Jack answer.

"What is education?" asked one of the board.

"Don't know," answered Jack.

"What is ability?"

"Never saw one."

"A man follows have got me again," replied Jack.

"Well, what is a hollow square, sir?"

"Never heard of one before. Guess they have them down at the front, do they?"

"What would you do, sir, if you were in command of a company, and enemy shot you down in the front?" asked a hissing fellow in white kid.

"Do you think?" thundered Jack; "I would give them Hell Columbus, that's what I'd do."

"I'll need the examination, and the report of the questions and answers, via the adverse judgment of the board, were sent to President Lincoln. His prompt and frank answer to him, and when he came to the only answer that Jack had given, the President said, "Stop, had that over again."
